To Whom It May Concern:

Yasmin Assar is an outstanding young woman. She has dedicated her short life to the service of others. Yasmin is full of integrity, character, and honor. Among the amazing students at Parkview High School, this young lady stands out from the rest. First and foremost, Yasmin is a great student. She applies herself to her studies and takes care of her academics above all else. She challenges herself with the highest level courses such as AP Human Geography and AP World History as a ninth and tenth grader, respectively. Her GPA and "A" average speak volumes for the difficult coursework Yasmin has chosen for herself. She is a diligent student and truly seeks out studies to better her academic career.

Yasmin also cares deeply about others. She has found clubs to involve herself in that are dependent upon service projects to maintain membership. She has also taken the lead roles in those projects, such as co-organizing the American Red Cross Blood Drive for Beta Club. Of course, her personal project of collecting eyeglasses for those in dire need has been her most amazing achievement bringing her accolades from all directions. Not many high school students are foresighted enough to reach out and help others in this grand way, but Yasmin again, stands out in a crowd.

Yasmin Assar is a wonderful young lady who I believe will go far in life and achieve her dreams. She has already begun down the path to great success and I know she will continue to shine. I am proud to know Yasmin, and I am certainly a better person for knowing her. I am very excited anticipating just how far Yasmin's desires and dreams will take her.

Sincerely,
